A group of libraries and institutions in the Fox River Valley area of Wisconsin are interested in the exchange of health science information.

Our Purpose:

- To provide better library services and to encourage the exchange of information by participating libraries.
- To promote continuing education of library managers and to update library services through consortium sponsored educational programs.
- To serve as a forum for the discussion and exchange of ideas useful to involved in the collection and dissemination of health science information.
- To link area health science collections with other library networks.
